

Wallentine Injury Law, LLC Brings Decades of Trial Experience and a Client-First Mission to Personal Injury Cases Across Kansas and Missouri

Millions of Dollars Recovered Every Year by the InJerry Law Team – No Risk – You Don't Pay A Dime Unless We Win!

OLATHE, KS — When individuals and families across Kansas and Missouri face the aftermath of a serious injury, they need more than general legal advice. They need a proven advocate who understands the stakes, commands the courtroom, and refuses to settle for less than they deserve. Attorney Jerry "Wally" Wallentine, founder of Wallentine Injury Law, LLC, has spent more than two decades building exactly that kind of practice, and the results speak for themselves.

With 21 years of experience as a licensed personal injury attorney, Jerry Wallentine has represented more than 1,000 clients across Kansas and Missouri. The firm has recovered millions of dollars on behalf of injured individuals, including several seven-figure individual results. Those numbers are not marketing language. They represent real people who were hurt through no fault of their own, who came to Wallentine Injury Law in some of the most difficult moments of their lives, and who left with meaningful financial recoveries that helped them move forward.

Wallentine is licensed to practice in both Kansas and Missouri, giving him broad jurisdictional reach across the region his firm serves. His main office is located in downtown Olathe, Kansas, a central location that positions the firm to serve clients throughout the greater Kansas City metro and beyond.

Jerry Wallentine's standing in the legal community is the product of consistent, high-quality representation. He is a member of the Johnson County Bar Association and the Kansas Trial Lawyers Association, organizations that connect him with fellow advocates dedicated to holding negligent parties accountable. He has also been named to the National Trial Lawyers Top 100 in Kansas, a selective recognition reserved for attorneys who demonstrate superior qualifications, trial results, and leadership in the field. He holds membership in Lawyers of Distinction, a further testament to his professional standing.

Beyond these honors, Wallentine has served as a pro tem judge in Johnson County District Court. That experience on the bench offers a perspective that few personal injury attorneys possess. Understanding how judges evaluate evidence, weigh arguments, and ultimately reach decisions is an advantage that informs the way Wallentine approaches every case he takes on.

Wallentine's career rests on a strong educational foundation. He earned his Bachelor of Arts in Business Administration from MidAmerica Nazarene University in 1995, where he developed the analytical and organizational skills that would later serve him well in practice. He then earned his Juris Doctor from the University of Kansas School of Law, one of the region's most respected legal institutions.

His educational background, combined with his business training, gives Wallentine an understanding of how organizations and insurance companies operate. That insight shapes how he builds cases and negotiates on behalf of clients who are often facing well-resourced opponents.

It is also worth noting that Wallentine is an ordained Nazarene Minister. That dimension of his background reflects a deep personal commitment to service, honesty, and advocacy for those in need, values that carry directly into his legal practice and define the culture of the firm he leads.

Jerry Wallentine's responsibilities extend beyond the courtroom. He currently serves as a Kansas state commissioner for the Kansas Public Disclosure Commission, a role that reflects his commitment to accountability and transparency in public life. This kind of civic engagement is consistent with the broader mission of Wallentine Injury Law: to serve the communities of Kansas and Missouri with integrity, to hold wrongdoers accountable, and to ensure that ordinary people have access to first-rate legal representation.

Wallentine Injury Law is not a solo operation. The firm's growing team of attorneys shares the founding philosophy that every client deserves aggressive advocacy delivered with genuine care. Attorney C.J. Dimarco, who focuses on complex medical-legal matters and high-stakes civil litigation, represents the caliber of talent that Wallentine has assembled under the InJerry Law banner. Dimarco graduated magna cum laude from the University of Missouri-Kansas City School of Law in 2019 and is licensed in both Kansas and Missouri, as well as admitted to the United States District Court for the Western District of Missouri. Together, Wallentine and Dimarco lead a team built to handle the full range of personal injury matters that clients across the region bring to their door.

One of the most important things injured people need to know is that pursuing justice does not require paying attorney fees upfront. Wallentine Injury Law operates on a contingency fee basis, which means clients pay nothing unless the firm wins their case. That commitment eliminates the financial barrier that often prevents injured individuals from seeking the legal help they need and deserve.

The firm's tagline says it plainly: "Millions of Dollars Recovered Every Year by the InJerry Law Team. No Risk. You Don't Pay A Dime Unless We Win." That is not simply a slogan. It is a promise backed by 21 years of results and more than 1,000 clients served.

If you or someone you love has been injured due to another party's negligence in Kansas or Missouri, the time to act is now. Evidence must be preserved, witnesses must be contacted, and legal deadlines can be unforgiving. The team at Wallentine Injury Law is ready to evaluate your case, answer your questions, and outline the path toward the compensation you deserve.
